About

My name is Özgür Önen, and I am 23 years old. I am currently pursuing my undergraduate studies in Computer Science at Gisma University. I completed my high school education at Maltepe Uğur Anatolian High School in Istanbul, Turkey. As part of my academic journey, I had the valuable opportunity to study Computer Science for one year at PJATK (Polish-Japanese Academy of Information Technology) in Warsaw, Poland. This experience not only enhanced my technical knowledge but also allowed me to broaden my cultural perspective and adapt to an international academic environment.

In addition to my passion for computer science and software development, I have a strong personal interest in art and music. I dedicate my free time to improving my skills as an amateur illustrator, and I actively play both the guitar and the piano. My involvement in art and music has significantly contributed to developing my creativity and problem-solving skills from a unique perspective. Furthermore, I am deeply interested in scuba diving, which I pursue as a recreational activity and I have an Open Water Diver license from SSI.

All of these interests and experiences continuously contribute to both my personal growth and my ability to approach challenges with a multidisciplinary perspective.
